

Ridgmont Lower School

Behaviour

Whilst your child is a pupil at Ridgmont there are rules and rewards in place to encourage good behaviour. The school has been complimented on its standards of behaviour both by Ofsted and other visitors to the school. We believe that this is due in part to the high expectations of behaviour which are evident throughout the school.

The children's achievements are rewarded in the following ways:

Merits - a merit certificate is received for outstanding work in any area of the curriculum

Silver Awards - we reward consistently good behaviour through our traffic light system. Children receive a Silver Award in Celebration Assembly at the end of each week. Their name is recorded in our Silver Book. This system also helps us to identify and support children whose behaviour falls below the school's high expectation.

Commendations - a commendation stamp is received for kind or courteous behaviour. When three have been received the children receive a gold award and have their name entered into our Gold Book.

House Points - other achievements are rewarded with house points. All children become a member of one of our houses (Windsor, Balmoral, Sandringham and Buckingham) when they join the school.

Each Friday the whole school joins together for a Celebration Assembly to applaud the week's outstanding achievements. Merits and Silver and Gold awards are presented and the winning house is awarded the house cup for the week.
